

CORNS PEEL OFF PAINLESSLY

There's Only One Genuine Corn-Peel—That's "Geta-It."

There's only one happy way to get rid of any corn or callus, and that's the painless peel-off way. "Geta-It" is the only corn remedy in the world that does it that way—effectively.

"2 drops of 'Geta-It'—Corn is doomed." thoroughly. Why get down on the floor, tie yourself up into a knot, and have to fool with "back-saw" plasters, sticky ointments, that run off, sticky tapes, and digging knives and scissors, when you can peel your corn or callus in one complete piece, peacefully and surely, with magic, simple, easy "Geta-It"? It takes 2 or 3 seconds to apply "Geta-It"; you use 2 or 3 drops, and that's all. "Geta-It" does the work! Get rid of that corn-pain at once, so that you can work and play without corn torture. Be sure to use "Geta-It." It never fails.

"Geta-It," the guaranteed, money-back corn-remover, the only sure way, costs but a trifle at any drug store. Manufactured by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill.

Sold in Barre and recommended as the world's best corn remedy by Cummings & Lewis—Adv.

BETHEL

Rev. Will C. Harvey Addressed Audience on Memorial Day.

The Memorial day exercises at the town hall yesterday afternoon were not as well attended as some years, partly due to the elaborate school program of the previous day and the absence of the usual school singing on Memorial day. Pre-Memorial day, devised as a school observance, probably was not intended to become a rival in attractiveness of the great Memorial day itself, so as to affect seriously the outpouring of the people to do honor directly to the nation's heroes, dead or living. The East Bethel band of 10 pieces played well in and out of the hall. Miss Etta Parsons read General Logan's order and Miss Alice King read President Lincoln's Gettysburg oration. Ex-Senator A. Lee Cady presided and presented as the day's orator, Rev. Will C. Harvey, who interested his hearers by his earnest tribute to the Civil war soldiers and his assertion of the unity of the American spirit in its great wars. Seven survivors of the Civil war occupied places of honor on the stage. The graves of their deceased comrades had been decorated previously and a dinner had been served by the relief corps.

Commencement week at Whitecomb high school will draw the usual large crowds to its several features, as follows: Sunday evening at 8 o'clock, baccalaureate sermon at the Universalist church. Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock (one hour later than usual, to avoid trains), class day exercises, on the school campus. Wednesday afternoon after class day exercises, class day baseball game, with Randolph high school at Highland park. Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, grammar school graduation and play, town hall. Friday evening at 8 o'clock, high school graduation, town hall. The graduates of the high school are 12 in number, as follows: Annie M. Davis, Lawrence Fletcher, Marion E. Grant, Alice G. King, Mary S. Marsh, Gilman A. Marshall, Ruth C. Mills, Roland A. Newton, Grace D. Owen, Dorothy A. Parker, Florence A. Parsons, Ruth A. Warden. The year began with 14 members in the class. After the first semester, Ray Hoagland, who came from the Ann Arbor, Mich. school, entered Norwich university. Margaret Hopkins, a popular member of the class, died during the influenza epidemic early in the fall. The class honors are as follows: First honor, with valedictory, Miss Parker; second honor, with salutatory, Miss King; honorable mention, Miss Owen. The competition among these young ladies was very keen throughout.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Blanchard and Rev. J. Wesley Miller were in Stockbridge Thursday to attend the funeral of Florence Mills, the year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Mills, just a week after the funeral of their three-year-old daughter, Ernestine.

Miss Geneva White has gone to Woodville, N. H., to visit her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Burnham. Pre-Memorial exercises of an unusual elaborate and interesting nature were held by the village schools at the town hall Thursday afternoon. The attendance was very large. The boys and girls of all the grades had been drilled by their teachers to a high state of perfection in the various drills, exercises, songs, salutes, dialogues and recitations of which the program consisted. "The Spirit of Memory," a play by the pupils of Miss Ruth Leonard's room, was perhaps the most pretentious feature. Mrs. William H. Arnold, president of the Woman's Relief corps, presented to the school a handsome flag given by the state organization, explaining that the Bethel school had been designated this year as the one to receive the flag, the announcement being made at the Rutland convention. Pre-Memorial day this year was a great community event.

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Spaulding and Kenneth R. Spaulding, former residents, were here from Rutland for the holiday. Woodstock celebrated Memorial day in part by a baseball game followed by a flag drill. The Whitecomb high school team, accompanied by a good delegation of rooters, had won its game 10 to 7 and thereby had secured the north Windsor county championship. If Woodstock had won, its victory would have secured the championship. In its half of the ninth inning, with one out, Woodstock filled the bases. Laverne replaced Hickey, who had pitched a brilliant game for Whitecomb, and retired the next two batters on strikes. With the game and the championship lost, Woodstock was furious and protested the game on the ground that Laverne is an eighth grade student. He has played last season and this season with no objection from any quarter. He has played against boys of the seventh and eighth grades of competing schools, which happens to be organized as junior-senior high schools, so there is no equity in this protest.

K. R. Spaulding of Rutland, for many years a resident of Bethel, is in this year's graduating class at the University of Vermont.

Mr. and Mrs. John N. Beckwith and their baby are here from Springfield, Mass., for a visit.

Memorial day services were also observed at Melrose by the Monroe post. Many from this section belong to this post and the exercises were exceptionally good.

RANDOLPH

Memorial Day Exercises Held in Baptist Church Largely Attended.

The Memorial day exercises were held at the Baptist church on Friday afternoon at 1:30, and there was a large attendance, the church being well filled. The band was present and gave good music, the program beginning with selections from the band and also an organ section. Following this the children of the grades in the schools took up their part, which was as follows: Welcome to visiting friends, Harold Chase; recitation, "A Little Patriotic Girl," Arleen Reynolds; recitation, "The Smallest Boy," Walter Ordway; soldier drill, by five little lads; recitation, "The Children of France," Ruth Webster; recitation, "The Empty Chair," Norman Williams; Lincoln's Gettysburg address, Irene Sweet. The band again favored the audience with a selection, when Commander Ketchum introduced Major F. C. Angell, who gave a very fine talk. Major Angell is a good speaker, and during his talk he often compared the "boys in blue" of 1861, and the "boys in khaki" of modern times, and paid a glowing tribute to the patriotism of both. There were only about a half dozen of Civil war veterans present, but many of the associate members were, including the Woman's Relief corps, and there were 18 returned soldiers from overseas present. The service was interesting and inspiring. In the forenoon a line of march was formed and the procession went to the cemetery south of the town and decorated the graves of those gone before, and on their return a dinner was served at the G. A. R. hall for those of the order and their families.
